Lukas Günther Teissl

IT & AI expert · Software developer · Entrepreneur · Author

Understand technology. Advance business. Shape what comes next.

I build AI solutions, automation and custom software that simplify everyday work and help businesses move forward. I combine technical delivery with business thinking, taking personal responsibility from the first idea to a working solution.

My books and educational resources explore AI, personal branding, financial education and personal development, with practical insights you can apply to your own goals.

My core expertise

AI & automation

Simplify recurring work and integrate AI where it adds practical value.

Software & digital systems

Build custom applications, integrations and dependable systems.

IT consulting & improvement

Identify opportunities, set priorities and deliver useful change.

IT security & infrastructure

Consider security, stability and maintainability from the outset.

Business & international projects

Bring technical work together with international practice and business thinking.

Personal branding & learning

Make expertise visible and share practical knowledge clearly.

From the first idea to a working solution.

Turn ideas into working solutions. Take responsibility from the start.

Experience. Projects. Collaboration.

Experience that shapes my work.
